About Us

Being able to speak, use language and communicate with others is one of the basic necessities for happiness and success.

I CAN works to support the development of speech, language and communication skills in all children with a special focus on those who find this hard: children with speech, language and communication needs.

Concerned about a child's talking, listening and understanding? Are you looking for more information about speech, language and communication?

I CAN has launched a new service to provide expert information to parents and practitioners about speech, language and communication. Our speech and language therapists can help - whether you would like to check communication milestones or find out how to support a child with a known speech, language and communication need.

Call 020 7843 2544 to book your free and confidential call-back from a speech and language therapist or for an email response, email your enquiry to enquiries@ican.org.uk
